

VALERIE OJEDA

EVENT EMCEE • CORPORATE SPEAKER • TRADE SHOW PRESENTER

ABOUT VALERIE

Known as “The Event Chameleon,” Valerie Ojeda brings more than 20 years of experience and over 1,000 live events worldwide to every stage.

She has represented Fortune 500 brands across virtually every major industry, with a rare ability to adapt seamlessly to any audience, message or moment.

She can command an elegant black-tie gala, fire up a crowd at a sporting or entertainment event, keep a corporate program engaging and on track, lead a fundraiser or deliver complex technical messaging verbatim on a busy trade show floor—always with the tone, style and energy the room requires.

With quick wit, natural warmth and an instinct for audience interaction, Valerie puts people at ease, earns their attention and knows when humor will help a room open up.

Give her a script, talking points or a core message, and she quickly understands the audience, tone and objective—then brings it to life in a way that feels natural, engaging and completely at home within the event, even when plans change in real time.

Her superpower is versatility. Her standard is over-delivery.

Her goal is always the same: make the audience care.
